Built between 1961 and 1963, the GP30 design reflected the latest engineering of the early 1960s. It owes its distinctive "hump," which spans the entire top of the locomotive, to General Motors' automotive stylists. Among its design innovations, the GP30 could be equipped with dynamic braking and an airtight hood to protect the air intake of its electrical cooling system. We continue the GP30's innovative tradition by making this the first model to include True Blast Plus™, which provides 16-bit polyphonic sound.

The GP, or General Purpose, class was introduced in 1949. General Motors built more than 4000 GP models for more than 45 railroads over the next 12 years. This locomotive is so versatile that many railroads rebuilt them and continue to use them today, over 40 years later. Ours is true to scale size and will operate on curves as tight as O-27.

GE entered the road switcher market in 1960 with the introduction of their "U" (Universal) line of diesels. Their goal was to offer replacement diesels for the aging fleet of first-generation diesels. This model group was quickly nicknamed "U-Boats." The U33C Diesel was first produced in 1968 with 3300 H.P. and sporting large radiator wings to make it easily distinguishable from earlier model U-Boats.

Originally built for passenger service at the request of the Santa Fe, this 3600 H.P. unit was later used for freight service as well. The locomotive was basically a SD-45 with a different body. The original purchasers of these locomotives were Santa Fe and Milwaukee Road, but they later wore different paint schemes as railroads merged and locomotives were sold or traded-in for newer units.

In 1948, the Electro-Motive Division of GM debuted a new concept to American railroads: the BL-2 locomotive. Offered as an all-purpose solution for "branch line" service, it was a redesigned car body on a modified F3 chassis. It offered the engineer greater visibility to the rear of the locomotive. They were costly to build and maintain, but the idea was revolutionary, making this locomotive a historical milestone towards the development of the prolific GP series introduced the following year. Only 59 units in total were built. Several are preserved in museums and a few are still used to pull scenic railroads.

DID YOU KNOW?

When locomotive manufacturers introduce a new model, they make a demonstrator model available to interested railroads so they can try it out. Only one BL-2 Demonstrator was built, and it was later sold to Chicago & Eastern Illinois. You can use our BL-2 Demonstrator with any railroad on your layout and still be prototypical!

Struggling to compete with GM's dominance, Alco introduced its first diesel locomotive, the FA-1 in 1945. Alco realized that there was a tremendous demand to satisfy from the railroads phasing out steam power. The unit was designed as a dual purpose locomotive suitable for freight and passenger service. Alco produced almost 700 units from 1945 - 1950 for railroads all over the country.

In 1937, new railroad regulations required two men to operate any locomotive weighing more than 90,000 pounds. Starting in 1940, GE built this miniature switcher to supply the railroads with the largest diesel that one man could operate. Over the years, 44-ton locomotives were built by many manufacturers, but GE sold the vast majority. Ours is a great entry-level item for you, your children, or grandchildren.

PETER WITT STREETCAR

- all-wheel drive
- precision can motor with two flywheels
- hidden drive train and electronics
- painted interior with seats
- photo-etched brass safety screen
- digital trolley bell
- electronic reversing unit

While serving as Cleveland's Street Railway Commissioner, Peter Witt designed an all-steel, single-operator streetcar that distinguished itself from others of the era by its use of the center door as an exit only. Passengers could pay the waiting motorman as they boarded at the front and exited at the center of the car, an arrangement which reduced stop times, improved schedules, and increased efficiency. Though designed originally for Cleveland, the Peter Witt Streetcar went on to service in cities throughout the world from the 1930s until the early 1960s.

Now your model town or city can get moving with the E-Z Street™ track system and E-Z Street™ vehicles. The E-Z Street™ modular system snaps together to create realistic one-lane or two-lane roads and intersections. Some suggested configurations include using four sections of 90 Degree Crossover Track (Item No. 00268) to form a two-lane four-way intersection. The 16" diameter curves (Item No. 00261) nest inside the 21" diameter curves (Item No. 00262) for realistic two-lane roads. When planning your track layout, note that you need to use 2.5" Straight to Curve Track (Item No. 00264) anytime you want to connect straight track (5" Straight, Item No. 00266 or 10" Straight, Item No. 00267) to a curved section.

To add power to your E-Z Street™ system, you must connect Power Wires (Item No. 00270) to the underside of a section of 10" Straight Track (Item No. 00267). If you would like to create an urban siding off of your track mainline, use our "To Track" Connector Pins (Item No. 00272) to connect to our O Gauge or O-27 tubular track system.

From open rural highways to busy city downtowns, E-Z Street™ offers limitless possibilities for fun!

E-Z STREET™ VEHICLE

- operates on O Gauge E-Z Street™ track system and straight or curved three-rail track
- may also operate on some three-rail turnouts and crossovers

Williams[™]

by BACHMANN[®]

Golden Memories Series

The Williams by Bachmann[™] Golden Memories series is comprised of replicas of the most memorable O Gauge trains of the postwar period. These models are sure to bring back memories of a bygone age when model trains were built to last. They have all of the premium features of the originals, including die-cast frames, wire mesh vents, and steel-rimmed drivers on the steam locomotives. In addition, the mechanisms and electronics are time-tested designs that incorporate modern maintenance-free can motors, metal gears, and trouble-free electronics that are backed by a limited lifetime warranty.

The Williams by Bachmann[™] Golden Memories series makes it possible for you to own iconic trains at an affordable price with the knowledge they will be passed down for generations to come.

COLLECTOR'S VALUE $

*The Collector's Value is the price you would pay for the original product if you were to buy it today in "like-new" condition.
